Most Important Book In Two Centuries!, January 6, 2010

By Dr. Robert W. Bass

IMHO "the most important book since Darwin's Origin of The Species"

WARNING to Truth-Seekers: it will take you 20-30-40-50 hours to study this 600-page book cover-to-cover, depending upon whether you average 2-3-4-5 minutes/page, but the enlightenment is worth it! The evidence for context-dependent encryption in the genetic code is an intellectual H-bomb on the citadel of naturalistic materialism & stochastic macro-evolutionary superstitions!

"Most Important Book In Two Centuries!"

Hilarious nonsense. IT'S NOT SCIENCE! It's meaningless and useless. It's ignored by scientists.

"The evidence for context-dependent encryption in the genetic code is" convincing to the creationist rubes who wasted their money on this nonsense, but ignored by scientists who know that this "code" could have been produced naturally.

"naturalistic materialism & stochastic macro-evolutionary superstitions!"

Hilarious. It would seem that you reject science.

Dr. Robert W. Bass replies:

What are YOUR credentials as a true scientist? I am a former Rhodes Scholar, retired Prof. of Physics & Astronomy, patented Inventor, and a multiple-award-winning mathematician & theoretical physicist & sometime engineer: I could "prove in court," quite "beyond a reasonable doubt" [if you find the National Academy of Engineering credible], that the USA would not have beat the Russians to a soft manned lunar landing, nor have given mankind the GPS, if it had not been for 2 initiatives on my part in 1955 & 1957, and as further evidence my former protege just received the National Medal of Science from Pres. Obama on 10/7/2009. I published "Gamkrelidze's Equation" of 1958 for which he received the Lenin Prize in 1962 two years ahead of him! The ACC (formerly JACC of 7 engineering societies) held a special session in my honor entitled "The Influence of Bob Bass." In 1976 I published a paper in the CRS Quarterly which contains the essential ideas, decades ahead of them, of BOTH Sykes' mother-to-daughter "mitochondrial-eve" theory AND Cavalli-Sforza's Y-chromosome father-to-son "primordial adam" theory, and if this propagandist, evidently motivated by FEAR that people will read Meyer's book and perceive the depth of corruption in the currently dominant self-appointed elite academic biology-paleontology Establishment's views, doesn't believe it, I challenge him to find my 1976 paper "Darwin Denied: The Superstition of Stochastic Succession" because it's still on my website as can be ascertained by a rudimentary google search.

"What are YOUR credentials as a true scientist?"

Hilarious. Creationists have been spouting nonsense for decades. It does not take any silly "credentials" to recognize that fact.

"I am a former Rhodes Scholar, retired Prof. of Physics & Astronomy, patented Inventor, and a multiple-award-winning mathematician & theoretical physicist & sometime engineer:"

And apparently quite biased by your religion.

"if it had not been for 2 initiatives on my part in 1955 & 1957"

Hilarious. This has nothing to do with creationist nonsense.

"evidently motivated by FEAR"

Hilarious. This nonsense has sold thousands of copies. Meyer has been working on it for decades. Here is his presentation in 1995:

http://www.arn.org/docs/meyer/sm\_bydesign.htm

"Simply stated, intelligent design theory argues that life on Earth arose via the purposeful act of an intelligent agent, which people might choose to view as a deity. At some point when the planet was young, say 3.5 billion years ago, there was an intervention by an intelligent agent that somehow provided what was needed - sequenced information, organic material, energy, etc. - for life to spring forth on a lifeless planet."

Hilarious supernatural anti-science nonsense. It was ignored 14 years ago and it will again be ignored today. There's nothing to fear from nonsense.

"perceive the depth of corruption in the currently dominant self-appointed elite academic biology-paleontology Establishment's views"

Hilarious nonsense. Corrupted by all those NSF grants? All the profits to be made from a better understanding of abiogenesis?

"Darwin Denied: The Superstition of Stochastic Succession"

Yes, the "Creation Research Quarterly" of 1976 is a wonderful place for peer-reviewed research - not.

"religious commitments may has caused me to examine neo-Darwinism far more objectively".

Hilarious nonsense that was ignored 33 years ago and is ignored today.

"The God of the Abrahamic religions "showed His hand" on October 13, 1917 when He intervened in human history to prevent Portugal (and probably thereafter Spain & Italy, like falling dominoes) from going Communist!"

Hilarious nonsense.

"his "50 Biggest Problems With the Big Bang" on his truly splendid website"

He is no longer with us - such a loss of misused brainpower.

"suggested that the 1988 radiocarbon "age" of 1260-1390 AD could have been mistakenly deduced by neglecting the possibility that the Resurrection of the body of Our Lord had been accompanied by a particle flux."

Any scientific measurement could be wrong if the proper supernatural influence took place! Hilarious nonsense.

Dr. Robert W. Bass says:

A genuinely Truth Seeking "scientist" uses logic (Aristotle's Law of the Excluded Middle) and follows the evidence wherever it may lead, such as did "the world's leading atheist," Tony Flew, who recognized the intellectually coercive force of the evidence for Complex Specified Information (CSI) as inaccessible to the Darwinian mechanism and turned to at least Deistic theism. The best evidence for ID is that Sir Francis Crick (co-discoverer of DNA code) perceived the impossibility of "natural" occurrence of CSI and said life must have originated in another galaxy and was brought here by alien "missionaries" (LOL!), and fellow religion-hater Sir Fred Hoyle also recognized the impossibility of Darwinian origin of CSI and wrote a book arguing that life must have originated on some other solar system or intergalactic region [never mind how!] and then was brought to earth on comets or meteors or stardust! Crick & Hoyle were sufficiently astute scientists to realize that the Darwinian mechanism is incapable of producing CSI [have YOU studied Hoyle's little-known book on the Mathematics of Evolution?] and so they resorted to "sweeping the problem under the carpet" by banishing it to another Galaxy! In fact before he died Hoyle wrote another little-known book admitting that the physical constants of the universe are self-evidently "fine tuned" to permit CSI, and the DESPERATION of the atheists is demonstrated by their postulation of infinitely many universes in a "multiverse" so that the Darwinian mechanism can find at least one fine-tuned to allow even the mere existence of CSI (much less explain its origin!) and to newly "define" the word "science" [originally meaning "knowledge"] so as to permit only "methodological naturalism" and thereby enable them to avert their cowardly eyes from the otherwise visible truth about reality! Be brave and face the awesome truth even if it discomfits you!
